Art Unit: 1724

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: this application improperly identifies itself as a "continuation-in-part of U.S. Patent Application Serial No. 09/766,031" (see page 1, lines 6-7, of the specification). Applicant should note that this application does not qualify as a CIP of prior application Serial No. 09/766,031, because it does not share a common inventor with said prior application. See 35 U.S.C. § 120 and M.P.E.P. § 201.08. Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 83-85 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farley (U.S. Patent No. 6,016,977) in view of Douglas (U.S. Patent No. 6,599,428). Farley discloses a filter assembly having a housing and a filter media disposed in the housing between its inlet and outlet, which filter assembly is capable of detachably attaching to a spray attachment of the type recited (see Figs. 1 and 2) or to a hose shank in a faucet assembly (see col. 4, lines 21-22). Accordingly, this primary reference discloses the claimed invention with the exception of the recited treatment media. Douglas discloses a water treatment media of the type recited (see col. 3, lines 41-44), and further teaches that this disclosed treatment media is superior to that of the primary reference for reducing chlorine in water (see col. 6, lines 3-4 and 16-20 of Douglas; and col. 6, line 18 of Farley). Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the water treatment media of Douglas for the water treatment media of Farley, in order to obtain the advantages disclosed by this secondary reference for the system of the primary reference. Applicant should note that since this application is only entitled to the benefit of the filing date of provisional application No. 60/249,033 (i.e. November 15, 2000), and since Douglas appears to have an effective filing date of October 1, 1999 for the subject matter relied upon, Douglas is deemed to be available as prior art.

Applicant's arguments filed March 1, 2004 have been noted and carefully considered, but no longer appear to be relevant in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
